Ray Liddy photographer for the reporter from 1950s - 2020

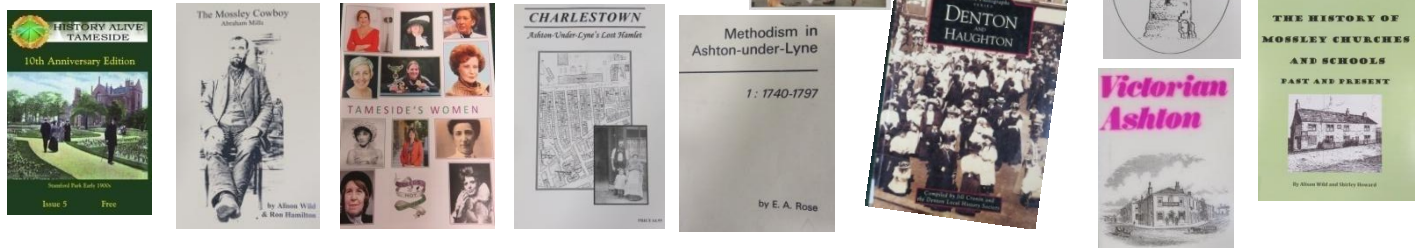

The Reporter Group of newspapers has been delivering news of the area from east Manchester to Glossop and north east Cheshire for over 165 years. In 2014 they donated their photographic archive to Tameside Local Studies and Archive Centre. This included black and white prints, film negatives and fragile glass plate negatives, mainly taken in the second half of the 20th century.. A grant from the National Lottery Heritage Fund has enabled the 26,000 negatives to be digitised. They can be viewed at <https://smiletameside.wordpress.com> and on Twitter and Facebook. Additional information about the pictures is welcome! The Ashton Photographic & Imaging Society and the History on Your Doorstep group have assisted the Centre staff with this project.
